Discuss Cherry Hill-New Lenox School Annexation

For a number of weeks recently, members of the Cherry Hill and New Lenox Elementary school Boards have been meeting in an attempt to see if some methods can be worked out whereby Cherry Hill can join the New Lenox School District.

Mokena PTA Plans Hobby Show April 24

On Tuesday, April 24, the regular monthly meeting of the Mokena P.T.A. will be held at Willowcrest School at 8 p.m. The program that night will be a hobby show and an open house for Willowcrest.

All who wish to participate in the hobby exhibit may bring their work to the school on Monday, April 23, between 3:15 and 3:40 p.m. Those unable to bring a hobby display in, may call Mrs. Victor Peterson 5538 so that she may make arrangements for pick-up. All hobby displays may be taken home after the meeting.

The second grade room mothers will serve refreshments.

a bond issue big enough to provide a small (4-5 room) school for the new joint district.

This was the major detail and it is now being worked out. There were a number of minor details but none of them appear to be too difficult to arrange.

If the annexation takes place, it is expected that some New Lenox Grade School students would attend lower grade classes at the new Cherry Hill School.

At the present time, Cherry Hill has about 40 students while New Lenox has nearly 800.

No official action on a merger of the two districts has been taken, but School Board officials are in the planning stage at the present time and will make a full report to the public when they have come to a joint decision.

New Lenox Lady Gets Letter From Astronaut Glenn

Mrs. E. A. Osmus of 419 N. Cedar, New Lenox recently put together an imaginative Easter basket shaped like the Friendship 7 Capsule in which John Glenn orbited the earth, and sent it to Astronaut Glenn.

Monday she received a letter of thanks from him. In addition to the signed letter from him, there was also a package of photos and stories in booklet form all about the famous flight, Feb. 20.

OUTLINE REASONS FOR VOTER SUPPORT OF L-W BOND ISSUE

The Lincoln-Way Board of Education is sending back to the voters the proposal to meet the pressing problem of increased and increasing enrollment. Voting date for the building bond issue is April 28.

"This is getting to be a serious matter," A. Hunter Chapman, Lincoln-Way Principal, stated. "It is not a reat of double sessions in September of 1963 to us at Lincoln-Way, it is a hard fact. We will have double sessions unless we can get more building."

In September of 1954 Lincoln-Way had a beginning enrollment of 398 students. The forecast called for 550 students by 1961. Last fall, instead of 550 students, 865 registered. The best estimates indicate that at least 1110 students will be the size of the Lincoln-Way student body.

FRANKFORD TWP. UP 180% The pupils have come from increased population in the communities that Lincoln-Way serves. In just ten years the total population has increased at a tremendous rate in the three townships. Frankfort Township showed a population gain of 180 per cent. Manhattan was the lowest with a

Frankfort Board Hears Plan For Big Quarter Horse Show

The Frankfort Village Board got a complete report on a brand-new Frankfort business firm which will bring a national quarter horse show to town June 23, 24 and 25 with an expected list of 500 entries.

Tom McKay, owner of the Triple R Ranch located just outside the village limits, discussed his operation with the Village Board during Monday night's session. He said that the Ranch is mainly operated to breed and train palomino quarter horses and that the facilities will include a track for training purposes and for shows, but that no gambling will be done on the premises.

At present there are three new barns built and two more will be built before the June show. The Triple R is the biggest show place for quarter horses in ten states and the largest quarter horse ranch in five states, according to McKay.

McKay said that the June show will be a combination charity horse show and grand opening for the benefit of St. James Hospital in Chicago Heights. McKay invited the board members to visit the ranch and said he now has 47 quarter horses stabled there plus a large number of colts.

MAKES COMPLAINT Clarence Waldvogel was the first man on the board's agenda and he made a complaint that his driveway had been seriously damaged by a city-employed contractor. In the ensuing discussion it was determined that a meeting will be set up with Waldvogel, the village engineer, the contractor and members of the street committee to determine just what the liability of the parties concerned may be.

As the end of the fiscal year draws to a close the board members will be rewarded for their faithful services. Those members who attended 26 meetings received $390 for their year's work, and all members qualified. Mayor George Sangmeister received $520 for his work and Walter Pfaff, village clerk, was paid $670 for clerking and for running the water dept. The village treasurer receives $600 for work on the general fund and the water fund.

FINANCES GOOD Happy note of the night was the fact that the general fund books are only $95.61 in the red. There are actually considerably larger amounts in other earmarked funds which put the village solidly in the black. In addition, contrary to the majority of other towns and villages Frankfort has not had to obtain tax anticipation warrants to operate this year.

Frankfort Lions Set Annual Turtle Derby

Lion president Jim Geuther announced today that the entries for the third annual Frankfort Lion's Club Turtle Derby are now on sale. As in the past, the event will take place in the Frankfort School Gym Wednesday evening May 16.

The turtle trainers inside information has it that a new racing technique called the "Twist" will be employed to make the speed even more dazzling than in the past, if that is possible.

Entries may be purchased from any Lion member and jockeys without mounts may register at Dean's Pharmacy to be assigned to turtles without a jockey. A jockey may be either a boy or girl and no older than 12 years of age by May 16.

City Engineer Robert Hamilton will be directed to take a survey of the alley running behind the post office to determine the actual dimension of the thoroughfare. It is expected that some property holders will be required to move shrubs, etc., and that the Public Service Co. will have to move some poles. The board was generally against vacating the alley, believing it will be more valuable to the community as an alleyway.

Dumping operations along the E. J. & E. Railroad right-of-way drew comments from the board because they felt it had interfered with the natural drainage. In addition they felt the appearance of the right-of-way has become unsightly due to the quality of the fill being dumped there.

RELOCATE PAVILION

After a view of the plat for the new park pavilion and the road planned to lead to it the board agreed to relocate the pavilion slightly so that the old roadbed can be taken advantage of. This would appear to provide a savings on the road construction costs.

Because a number of dead trees in Frankfort are in a dangerous condition, the board decided to advertise for bids to try and get the work done. They will open the sealed bids in their May 7 session, and expect to pay for it on a monthly basis for a three year period.

Also discussed before the session closed were the current insurance policies covering village property and a special machine to detect sewer lines and leaks.

Mokena Lions Sponsor Egg Hunt Easter

The Mokena Lions Club will hold their ninth annual Easter Egg Hunt Sunday afternoon, April 22, at 3:30 p.m., in the Village Park adjoining the churches in town. Children up to and including sixth grade are invited to participate in this annual event. Lion Chairman Roy Richardson states that in case of rain, the postponed date will be announced in the schools the following week.

As in previous years, the eggs will be numbered and prizes awarded to the children finding the lucky ones.

Members of the Lions Club are reminded to bring one dozen hard boiled colored eggs to Richardson's Meat Market.

Chamber Sponsoring Golf School

The Tinley Park Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its second annual golf school, starting May 3.

The first session will be held in the Central school gymnasium, 17248 - 67th ave., Tinley Park and will start at 7:30 p.m.

Two golf professionals from local golf courses will conduct the classes.

The total cost of the lessons is $3 which includes the registration fee and must be paid at the time of registration on May 3.

There will be a total of four lessons, one each week.

The second lesson will be held May 10 at Silver Lake Country Club golf course, the third lesson at Westgate golf course, and the fourth lesson will be in the form of a nine-hole game, with half of the students playing at each golf course.

Rudy Petan of the Chamber of Commerce is chairman of the project.

Lincoln-Way Musicians Win State Contest Sweepstakes

Lincoln-Way's instrumental and vocal music students journeyed to Ottawa Saturday, April 14 and not only came back with individual honors, but combined their efforts to win the highest possible award in the Class "A" State Music Contest.

Beginning what was to be a clean sweep in the organization events, the Lincoln-Way band, under the baton of Robert C. Taylor, started an accumulation of points by winning the only "Superior" rating awarded in the Class "A" contest. This was followed in order with "Superior ratings" by the boys' chorus and mixed chorus under the direction of Tom D. Olson.

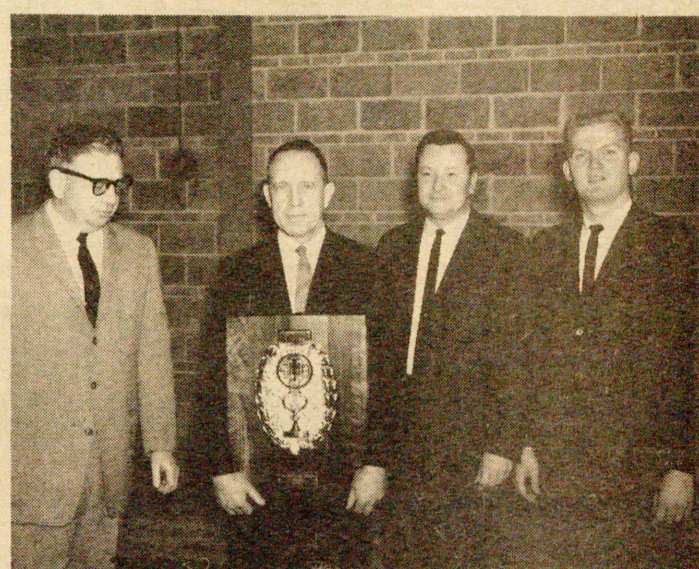

Throughout the day fine performances by the 20 vocal and instrumental solos and ensembles added points to the Lincoln-Way total and then came the climax. With all possible points accounted for except for the girls' glee club which sang at 4:30 under the direction of Tom Thompson Lincoln-Way was in second place. A "Superior" rating in this latest event would win but anything less would lose.

Finally at 5:45 p.m. the standings were announced with Lincoln - Way winning the "Sweepstakes" on 117 points. The girls' glee club had won its "Superior". Harlem high school of Rockford was in second place with a total of 112 points and Rochelle was third. In addition to the results listed above Lorraine Kramer and Sandra Kooyenga were rated superior on their vocal solos; superiors were also won by Charles Ball baritone, Susan Webb, clarinet, Martha Otto, oboe, and Carole Hammond, cornet, Judy Owen, Lynn Stauffenberg, Richard Osmus, and Sandra Gregory each won Excellent ratings in their vocal solo appearances, and a rating of good was awarded to Judy Kuchenbecker for her vocal solo.

Superior ratings were also won by the girls' single ensemble, the woodwind trio, and the cornet quartet, while a rating of excellent was awarded to the girls' single ensemble, the clarinet quartet, the drum quintet and the saxophone quartet. The girls' double ensemble and the clarinet quartet were judged, good.

SWEEPSTAKES AWARD -- Lincoln-Way High School Superintendent A. Hunter Chapman proudly displays the Class A State Music Contest Sweepstakes award won by the school at Ottawa last Saturday. GOODBYE BARN - This barn on the John Handorf farm at Rt. 6 and Cedar Rd., New Lenox, was completely destroyed by fire Monday afternoon at 1:30. The New Lenox Fire Department, with an assist from Homer, battled the blaze for 2 hours and prevented the flames from spreading to other buildings in the wind. No estimate of the damage was available but it was known that a combine and a trailer were both destroyed in the flames. Fourteen men answered the fire call.

The primary topics of the special meeting were the need to get out all the voters possible on election day and to get all the available information to the voters before they cast their ballots.

A Cure For Confusion

In Monday evening's Frankfort Village Board meeting the members were, to a degree, confounded by the insurance requirements policies, rates and coverage on village property and equipment.

From time to time, New Lenox, Frankfort and Orland Park have also experienced similar difficulties. The problem arises because a great many insurance agents in the various communities offer many types of coverage and sometimes at special rates.

To add to this confusion, there are always charges of favoritism by the various tax-supported bodies, school boards, etc. that tend to cloud the issues.

At this point we would like to offer what we believe to be a thoroughly sound and practical solution to this continuing problem: A Township Insurance Agents Association.

This is not a brainchild of our own, but was actually developed in Lockport Township after the matter of insurance had become an important factor in political controversy.

At the present time the Lockport Township Insurance Agents Association writes a major portion of the insurance for tax-supported bodies there and distributes the policies and the commissions on the policies on an equal basis.

Just a few weeks ago the Association provided a plan by which the City of Lockport will be able to double their insurance coverage without adding any substantial costs for the city.

It is our hope that the insurance agents in the various townships will call a meeting, set up their group and take it upon themselves to provide the services that only they can provide. They will not only be able to advise the various school boards and village governments as to what insurance coverage is needed, but they will be able to do it at the lowest possible cost. For this work they will all enjoy a suitable, equal income, according to the agreement they should be able to work out.

Gentlemen our communities need your assistance.

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Jefferson P. Throttebottom, a free loader's free loader and bourbon fancier whose pronouncements on the quality of this product of the distiller's art carries more weight than a United States supreme court decision in a federal tax case, dropped by the other day to lay in a supply of cigars and tobacco for the remainder of the week.

He stretched out in the most comfortable chair, slipped off his shoes and wriggled his feet.

"I am a bit weary," he confessed. "I was up quite late. The Fin O'Dowd Authors and Literary club met last night at Finnegan's saloon and the meeting was a long one. I am really tired today."

Jeff was not too tired, however, to reach over for a handful of cigars and fire one up. "It was a good meeting?" I inquired.

"Very good," said Jeff, "and I might add that it was a most stimulating evening. We had a live one—I mean we had a new member. He had quite a thirst for knowledge as well as other things and apparently is blest with ample pelf to gratify his desires. A very fortunate man and I must say that the club is fortunate too in having a member who is interested in the arts and is solvent too."

"One of the major topics discussed," Jeff revealed, "was poetry. Someone voiced the opinion that all of the great poets, like the great composers have passed away."

"Nutsy Schultzeimwinder took exception to this, pointing out that right there in Finnegan's saloon some excellent verses were to be found on the washroom walls."

"I would have you know," Jeff explained, "that poor Nutsy is an ignorant man so lacking in intelligence that he would have difficulty making morn if the whole world were made up of idiots. I sometimes wonder why we ever took him into the club but he does have a wonderful touch in tapping a barrel of beer and perhaps in time his association with men of intellect and culture will bear fruit. At least we hope so."

"Knuckles" Murphy, who acquired his sobriquet by winning a pigs knuckles eating contest, took the position that poetry was far from dead. As for the composers, he pointed out, their works will never die because they are continually being stolen by the writers of popular songs. A change of tempo and there you are—like a new flower, a new ribbon or a twist of the brim gives a woman's last year's hat next year's style.

"Knuckles contends that there is just as great talent in the writing of poetry today as in the long, long ago. The difference, he says, is that the great poets of long ago starving was more or less fashionable—at least it was the thing to do for poets—but today they command high salaries, drive expensive sports cars and live luxuriously because they are the top writers in the advertising world."

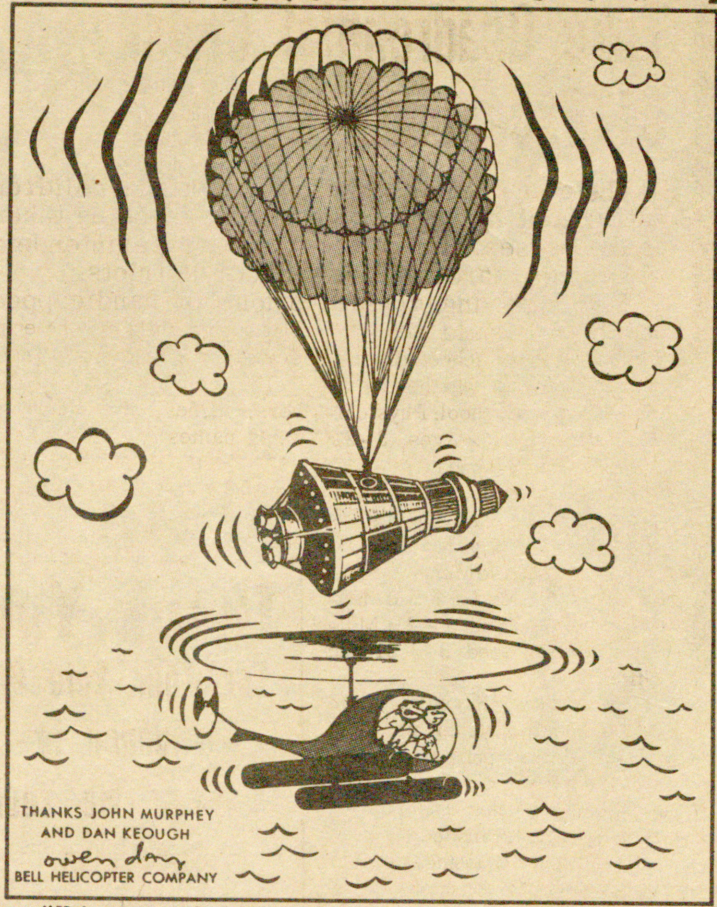

"And I believe Knuckles is right," Jeff declared. "Prose poetry. That is what some of the ads are today with their honeyed, golden words that delight the tongue and ear."

"I think that some of these lads could sell anvils in a lace factory thru the sheer magic of their words. And speaking of magic and in words one of the greatest benefactors of the poetic genius of the admen is the tobacco industry."

"Now I know that you buy various kinds of pipe tobacco, I have tried quite a few different kinds myself. I should add that pipe smokers as a whole are embarked on practically an impossible quest. One hears of a man or a woman seeking an ideal love...one hears of those who would bring to their work the highest of ideals...one hears of those who seek material success who would amass great fortunes and power. Such things are no more difficult than running down to the corner store when compared with the aims of the pipe smoker."

"He is searching for the perfect tobacco—the one described so lyrically by the copy writers. He knows it is a will-o-the-wis, a mirage...but he has faith AND hope that some day there will be a great rainbow that will stretch across the whole world and at either end there will be a crock, not filled with gold but with tobacco the fragrance of which will ascend like incense to charm the doorkeeper who hold the gates of Heaven."

the tobacco that lives up to its billing would end the pipe smoker's quest for perfection. He knows that this new brand he is getting will tear his tongue out by the roots...will parch his throat and cause family and friends to shun him but he can't resist.

"He reads of the golden flakes of Virginia, the rich and varied browns of burly, the red Maryland, the delicate havans, the flavorful latakia, the delightful difference one gains thru seven different varieties of turkish and the pungent, vigorous black of perique and he can hardly wait to get at it. And what does he get out of it. A sore tongue and a dry throat maybe and the hope that the next time...ah, hope spring eternal in the heart of the pipe smoker...

"So long, son...I'll just take a little of that tobacco with me. It's not too good but it's not too bad. Anyway it will do until you get something new or go back to that Hale and Hearty. I liked that real well."

COOK COUNTY FARM
ADVISER KE-2-4369 TINLEY PARK, ILL.

Flowering shrubs, like people, lose some of their vigor with age. If flowers become small and off-color and the leaves lose their luster, the shrub may be "worn out". With such plants, the homeowner has two choices -- replace or renovate.

Often new and better varieties are available to replace old shrubs. These new varieties bloom longer and have better flowers and more disease resistance than older varieties of the same species. Before making replacements it may pay you to check for new improved varieties.

But if the worn-out plant was good at one time and better varieties aren't available, renovating is advised. Since blossoms appear on new wood, prune out all old wood. Shrubs like lilac, forsythia, mock orange or privet can be cut off at ground level when plants are dormant. This drastic treatment may mean that no flowers will appear for two years, but often a new shrub takes as long to bloom.

Usually, if the plant isn't too worn out, cutting out several old canes at ground level and pruning the remaining canes back -- still maintaining the shape of the shrub--will give the desired result. The main purpose of renovating is to stimulate new canes from the roots.

For a complete rejuvenation, fertilizing at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 square feet with 5-10-5 or a similar fertilizer, is suggested. Then to keep the plant cool, to stimulate growth from roots and to conserve moisture this summer mulching with 3 or 4 inches of CRACKED corn cobs is recommended. Ground corn cobs will keep the soil too wet...and they often sour. Peat moss 1 1/2 inches deep or straw may also be used, but these materials may blow away easily.

Dress fit to live rather than fit to kill this spring when you're operating power tools around the farm.

Work clothes can be deadly dangerous. Loose, ragged garments can cause accidents when they get tangled in shop tools and machinery. Safe work clothes should be simple in design, smooth-fitting and clean.

For safety in operating farm tools around the farm, don't wear a wrist watch, necktie or ring. The safety-conscious person works with his sleeves rolled up and wears safety goggles, even if he wears regular glasses, when grinding metal or using any machine that produces loose objects.

Fertilizing your home garden according to a soil test is the most accurate way to determine what plant nutrients you need. But if you haven't had time to test your garden soil, use this rule of thumb to guide you:

You Flatter Us!

To The Editor:

The life of an editor is indeed hard. Surely many readers are sympathetic toward a man who works so hard and at times accomplishes so little. Your two favorite political candidates failed you.

Perhaps the common people of the community resent the departure from good newspaper practice and displayed that resentment by voting the two endorsed candidates out. The refusal to print information concerning an opposing candidate may be good politics, but surely it violates all rules of supplying public information.

You also refused a letter pertaining to our high school board and to the high school Board election held April 14. That letter represented the opinion of one man and even though every reader may disagree, the writer had the right to express his opinion.

Two other community papers ran the letter.

Could your biased support have aided in the defeat of two more candidates?

Leonard Patterson, Ed. Note: Mr. Patterson refers in his second paragraph to this newspaper's support of Mr. Krusemark and Mr. Botino, and we feel sure that all our readers had ample information about all the candidates in these columns.

In his third paragraph he refers to a letter which was submitted last week in which two candidates for the Lincoln-Way board were endorsed. Since it is the present policy of this newspaper not to endorse any school board candidates, we chose not to run the letter, as it might be construed to represent some facet of the opinion of this newspaper and the editor.

A Student Speaks

Dear Editor:

In the past two months, many varied accounts of the present school crises have appeared in this and other newspapers. We have seen the letters of men and women bitterly criticizing the faculty, the administration, and the board of Lincoln-Way High School. We have seen published other opinions praising the very same actions and policies which were the cause of complaint of other, equally sincere citizens. This conflict is an essential ingredient in the operation of any democratic system, so long as the opinions expressed are soundly based on fact, knowledge, and reason. However, these bases for judgment have been lacking in the opinions on many fine citizens of the Lincoln-Way area. In one sense, this letter is a plea for reasonable action.

I am asking the voters of the Lincoln-Way district to base their decisions on the present school questions upon a sound knowledge of the question at hand, and not upon personal prejudices, upon hurt and angry pride, or upon misinformation or rumor.

Today we are faced with two distinct problems; we are confronted with two questions which we must answer in the near future. These two problem areas are: 1. The current bond issue requested for expansion of present high school facilities; and 2. the present muddle over the proposed junior college district. It is imperative that we basis by capital formation. Capital formation funds are roughly defined as that production which is not currently consumed, but rather used to produce products which, in turn, produce commodities or are useful in production.

Analysts have been calling attention to the fact that capital formation in western Europe has been ahead of that of this country. They note that lower taxes on earnings and greater depreciation allowances, have greatly aided in this.

A recent issue of the Financial World, carries an article discussing the financial health of the consumer.

The article notes that consumer buying is about two-thirds of the gross national product. It is therefore a crucial figure although one that does not show pronounced shifts in direction but does fluctuate sufficiently to emphasize cyclical changes.

The article states that, as expected during a period of business revival, current incomes available to individuals are rising steadily. Debt is not a serious problem and rising at a slower pace than was expected -- this, of course, in relation to income available to service that debt.

This consumer debt vs savings is expected to push business to higher levels and even near - boom levels.

should consider these two issues separately, so that we do not overlook a need in one area because of a particular feeling in the other.

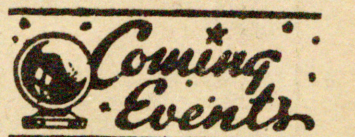

I would like to make clear that my view is that of a faction of the school community which, to the best of my knowledge, has yet to be heard from that of the student. As a senior at Lincoln-Way, I can look back over the past years and see once again the many changes which have occurred both within the school and within the district itself. I have seen the school evolve from a little - known school in the suburbs of a suburb to an institution respected and admired throughout the state. I have seen this change and, I say with pride, I have been a part of that change. I have seen the four communities change from sleepy little hamlets to growing, thriving, prospering villages of which the residents are justifiably proud. With the unprecedented growth witnessed by the district, I have seen a school building become inadequate two times in the past ten years, and I have seen the district voters respond two times to solve these inadequacies. I am looking back on ten years of progress.

When I turn to the present, however, I see a picture which is not as pleasing as that of the past. I see a school plant more inadequate for its needs than it ever has been before. As it stands today, our school building is being utilized to capacity. Our administration tells us that, somehow, 200 more students will study in this building. Having had as a student the chance to observe this school in action, I can say with all sincerity that I cannot see how it can be done. Even if the student body can be provided for during 1962-63, I cannot help thinking about the years to come, and about the forecasted yearly growth rate in excess of 100 yearly. These are students which are today in our grade schools. Where will we put these students, let alone those who move into the district in the future? Within three years, we are told, unless additional classrooms are FINISHED AND AVAILABLE, we will have no alternative but to center a program of undesirable double shifts.

Although I will not be in the school at that time, I am concerned with this possibility. I hope someday to reside with my own family in this area. I do not, as a student, and would not, as a parent, want to see Lincoln-Way on a two-shift basis.

In my three and three-quarters years at Lincoln-Way, I have seen class sizes swell to the bursting point. I have seen a school plant become obsolete in its capacity to meet its needs. I have seen students, teachers, administrators, and board members co-operate to try to alleviate this problem. Today I am witnessing a most crucial period in the school's history. I am asking you, the Lincoln-Way voters, to put aside for a moment your personal feelings and to consider for a moment the need of an adequate school, realizing that this issue is a separate issue from that of the proposed junior college. A vote for the bond issue is a vote for more classrooms - no more, no less. I am asking you to approve the building of the high-school classrooms we need by voting YES on the bond issue Saturday, April 28.

Sincerely yours,
MICHAEL B. TATE

BOWLS 300 - John Unzicker of Tinley Park reached the goal of every bowler, a 300 game, last Wednesday, April 11. Unzicker was bowling in the Tinley Men's scratch league with Johnny and Joes Corner team. His scores for the three games were 192, 300 and 182. This is the 13th, 300 game bowled in Illinois this year and is the first 300 game ever bowled at the Tinley Bowling Lanes. Unzicker's wife, Phyllis, who is also an ardent bowler is a member of VI's house of beauty team, has the second highest series of a sanctioned women's league in the State this year with a 694. The Unzickers who live at 18047 Harlem Ave. in Tinley are looking forward to a number of prizes as a result of his 300 game, including a check for $100 from Tinley Bowling Lanes. The most startling part of Unzicker's bowling career however, is the fact that he didn't even start bowling until he was 45 years old.

Take Quadrennial Census Of Exceptional Children

The quadrennial census of exceptional children authorized by legislative action is being taken at the present time by the County Superintendent of Schools, through local school districts.

The following classifications of handicapped children should be reported to local school district superintendents whether or not that child is in school: Physically handicapped, Ages 3-21; Speech Handicapped 3-21; Hearing Handicapped 3-21; Blind 3-21; Partially Seeing 3-21; Socially Maladjusted 5-21; Trainable Mentally Handicapped 5-18; Educable Mentally Handicapped 5-21; Multiple Handicapped 3-21 and Gifted 5-18.

The information thus gathered will aid state and local school officials greatly in their ability to provide for the education of these children.

The Southwest Cook County Cooperative Association for Special Education urges all citizens who have knowledge of these children who are NOT enrolled in school, to contact their local superintendent at once so that such a child may be enumerated for educational planning.

Bells Will Ring At Noon Today

If you have a bell...ring it... Thursday, April 19...the 187th anniversary of Paul Revere's Ride and the Battle of Lexington and Concord. Sponsored by The American Legion...bells will ring across the nation for four minutes...at noon today (Thursday)...to peal forth in a melodious, stirring reminder of our great American heritage and democracy, and the continued dedication of our people to the principles of representative government.

ted 18 years ago in two small rooms of the local YMCA, it has grown to where more than 300 exhibitors and 15,000 spectators participate. Carl Hoban, the first president and who still guides its destiny, has seen this unique project become the largest of its kind in the country.

First Graders Surprise Teacher With A Shower

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Phone Mokena 5740

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten organization had a sale, which was held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Gunty last Friday, April 6, was termed a success by the group. The sale was for the benefit of the Kindergarten, and all net proceeds went for that purpose.

There was a surprise bridal shower held at the Summit Hill School Thursday, April 12. The party was a surprise given by the first grade for their teacher, Miss Lambert, who was married in Joliet Saturday, April 14.

The children all donated money for a gift from the group, which was presented to Miss Lambert. The party was planned by the two, first-grade room mothers, Mrs. Earl Scott, and Mrs. Jack Chestnut, with the assistance of Mrs. T. DiPaolo, and Mrs. Al Behnke.

When the school classes let out at three, the other teachers entered into the festivities with their gift and then stayed for cake and coffee.

With the coming of the nice weather the Brookfield Zoo is starting to get a work-out. Mrs. Raymond Raser of 9449 W. Birch and her three children, Sherri, Vincent, and Denita, spent the day at the zoo with Mrs. Robert Burdett and her two children, Bobby and Kathy.

The Summit Hill Parent Teacher Group held its regular general monthly meeting at the school Thursday evening, April 12. This was the annual election meeting for the group with the newly elected officers being: Mrs. Hyman Kronick, president; Mrs. Thomas Tanis, vice president; Mrs. Paul Smith, who was re-elected secretary; and Mrs. Walter Plumly, treasurer.

There were two talks at the meeting pertaining to the proposed Junior College in this area. One talk was given by Mrs. Engelhardt who presented the issue on neutral grounds, and the other talk was given by Mrs. Shreffler who was in opposition to the formation of a Junior College.

Mrs. Beatrice Link, candidate for the Lincoln-Way School Board, was also on hand to present herself to the assembled group.

The two monthly awards were presented, the first award for the most parents in attendance at the meeting was given to the sixth grade under their teacher Mrs. O'Toole and the second award for the greatest attendance by the pupils for the month was given to the fifth grade under Mrs. Gilbert, their teacher.

There was an auditing committee appointed to audit the books consisting of Mrs. John Hayden, Mrs. Robert Dickerson, and Mrs. Byron Skinner.

There were tentative plans presented for a graduation party for the eighth grade. The eighth grade voted this year to go out for dinner to celebrate their graduation, it was announced by the room mother, Mrs. Archie Estes.

To help defray the expense of the dinner, the eighth grade will hold a car wash at the school some time in May, the date to be announced later. Any additional funds needed will be given by the Parent Teacher

Orland Center School PTC met on April 10 at 8 p.m. at the school. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Irene Mays read the minutes of the March meeting. The treasurer reported $496.54 in the treasury and reported that a very nice profit was realized from the recent fashion show. The members voted to give the school custodian a gift of money for his aid in the preparation for the fashion show.
Mr. Irvin Davis reported that a committee has been formed to secure a school bus for children of Fairway and Silver Dells for next year.
Some of the nine candidates for the school board gave their view points on school problems and projects.
It was decided that the vote to decide whether or not to join the P.T.A. would take place at the next regular meeting which is scheduled for May 8. First grade mothers will be in charge of the refreshments.

The weekly meeting of Brownie Troop #605 which is usually held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Remi Heynen, was postponed last week because of measles within the troop.

Measles, both German and the two week variety, are visiting many of the O.P.H. little people, so don't be surprised, Mom, if you see spots before your eyes.

A new and unique gift shop, The Lantern, has opened at 9630 W. 143rd St., Orland Park. (During the Christmas season it was located in the Village Courtyard in Palos.) Volunteer workers are always welcome at either the Lantern or in the Palos Recording Studio. There are many jobs to be done besides the actual reading of books. Interested persons may inquire at the Lantern or phone Mrs. Robert Russell, chairman of the Palos Branch, at 448-1969.
